

Smart solutions in home automation

You already know everything is controllable from a smart phone, tablet computer, PC and even from hundreds of kilometres away. However, is your business keeping pace with the latest technical innovations and offerings? Who do you call for help with new technology?

STRA is a specialist technology contractor and consultant. We design and install technical solutions for local government, the hospitality industry and businesses. We have extensive experience in providing wireless, PLC, IP, GPS and DTV and Radio solutions throughout Australia. We can now offer this experience to bring functional and practical technical solutions to the new home market.

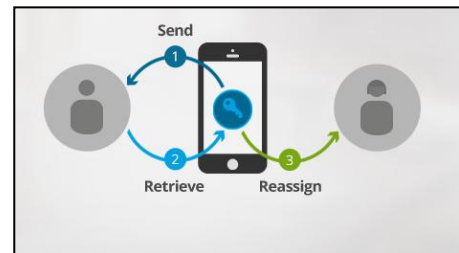

We can help with everything from smart key access solutions, home automation, power management, security management and clever home entertainment – all from a smart phone.

Receive an SMS or email to show who has entered the house – no problem. Issue a temporary smart key to a visitor or tradesman – sure, we can do that too.

Supply pictures and video to the police if a break in occurs – yes we can.

Integrate all the household devices onto one screen on an iPad – of course we can offer this also.

STRA can design, supply and install complete smart control systems that will make your client's new home a true smart home.

We can provide you with the technical edge that offers convenience, functionality and a major point of difference.
